

Young Stanford Professor Leaps to Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Friends of a brilliant young Stanford University assistant professor were at a loss today to explain why he jumped to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge.

The body of Michael Wyatt, 27, clad only in shorts, was recovered by the Coast Guard Sunday near Mile Rock lighthouse, 12 hours after his abandoned car was found parked on the bridge.

He left a handwritten will and a note to a young woman friend in the car. The will, written in pencil and timed off at 2:15 a. m. CST shortly before his leap, left all his property to Miss Dorothy Klimek, of San Mateo, Calif., and Joliet, Ill.

The note, addressed to her, said: "My darling Dorothy: I believe we can never be happy together, but I still love you. God bless you. Michael."

Wyatt's death came as a shock to Miss Klimek and to his friends on the Stanford faculty, who described him as "cheerful, pleasant," and a promising member of the faculty.

Miss Klimek, who owns a dress shop in Joliet, was not engaged to Wyatt but had been a friend of his for several years, according to her brother-in-law, John Harder of San Mateo.

Harder said he and his wife had entertained Wyatt and Miss Klimek at dinner Saturday night. He said Wyatt appeared then to be in excellent spirits.

Red Chinese Premier Outlines Five Year Plan for Industrial Production

TOKYO (AP)—Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai outlined Sunday an ambitious new five-year plan he said would double industrial production and triple basic production in China. Much of the plan would depend on Soviet help.

Chou's speech to the eighth congress of the Chinese Communist Party in Peiping was broadcast by radio Peiping today in a summarized version. It was the first Chinese Communist congress in 11 years and was being attended by world Communist leaders.

Chou announced five fundamental goals of the nation's second five-year plan, which begins in 1958, with top priority given to heavy industry. He listed the fundamental tasks as:

1. To continue economic construction with heavy industry as its core and promote technical reconstruction of the national economy and build a solid foundation for socialist industrialization.

2. To carry through the Socialist transformation and to consolidate the system of collective ownership.

3. To further increase the production of industry, agriculture and handicrafts and develop transport and commerce on the basis of socialist construction and socialist transformation.

4. To make vigorous efforts to train personnel for construction work and to strengthen scientific research.

5. To reinforce natural defenses and raise the level of the people's material and cultural life.

Parents of Four Negro Children Give Up School Fight at Clay, Ky.

By United Press

Parents of four Negro children, whose efforts to get them into a white school in Clay, Ky., brought out the National Guard, gave up today and decided to put them into a school for their own race.

The decision, announced in a dramatic hand-shaking on the steps of the school, brought cheers from a crowd of 50 to 60 white persons standing behind a line of Kentucky National Guardsmen drawn up at the building.

The Negroes, accompanied by their mothers, were turned back at the school door by the principal, Mrs. Irene Powell. She read them a resolution adopted by the County Board of Education. It was an order barring them from the white school.

Mrs. James Gordon, mother of two of the children, shook hands with Mrs. Powell and said she will take her children to a Negro school at Providence, Ky. Mrs. Catherine Copeland, mother of the other two Negroes, said she will also enroll them at Providence.

The capitulation of the Negro parents to demands of the white population that the Negroes not be admitted to the all-white school eased tensions that had built up in Clay for days.

Although Gov. A. B. Chandler promised to remove National Guard troops as soon as he is officially notified of the school board's decision, Maj. Gen. J. J. B. Williams, state adjutant general commanding the troops, said he would stay around "for the time being."

The Kentucky conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People began work on a federal suit to integrate the school following the school board decision Friday night.

James A. Crumlin, state president and legal counsel for the NAACP, said at Louisville, Ky., that the suit would be filed by Tuesday in the federal district court at Owensboro, Ky.

State Attorney General Jo M. Ferguson ruled late last week that the Negroes have no legal right to attend the school so long as the school has not decided to integrate and no court has ordered it.

The school board quickly went into session and voted unanimously not to integrate this year.

A small force of guardsmen also continued to police the Sturgis High School in nearby Union county, where nine Negroes attended classes without incident throughout last week.

Four Hurt in Highway Crash

Four persons suffered injuries Friday night when cars collided at Routes 1 and 13 in Gallatin county.

State Policeman Guthrie Alexander said the autos were driven by William Harold Mitchell, 20, of Buana, Ky., and Elmer Harold Kaburek, 23, of Belleville. Injured were the drivers and their passengers, Irene Davis, 19, of Salem, Ky., in the Mitchell car, and Robert Kaemmerer, 23, of Belleville, in the Kaburek auto.

Democrats Open Local Headquarters

Saline county Democratic headquarters have been established on North Vine street and one of the signs on the front of the building says "Welcome Joe Smith."

Plans are to have somebody in the room, starting tomorrow, to give out information, distribute literature, and take care of voter registrations.

U. S. Ready to Finance Oil Exports in Suez Crisis: Dulles

U. S., Britain To Seek Test Trip on Canal

Sponsors of Users Plan Favor Quick Challenge to Egypt

LONDON (AP)—The United States and Britain will ask the 18-nation second Suez conference Wednesday to agree to an immediate "test trip" into the Suez Canal as a direct challenge to Egypt, informed sources said today.

Britain wants the test to be a full convoy piloted by Westerners. The United States believes a single ship would be sufficient, the sources said.

But the two main sponsors of the "canal users association," according to the informants, are agreed that the challenge should be made quickly before accidents or pilot fatigue choke off traffic in the canal.

The first major slowdown of shipping since Western pilots resigned Friday was reported in the canal today. The report lent urgency to the Wednesday conference called in London to study the Western plan for a Suez Canal users association.

Authoritative sources said the Big Three did not plan to draw up hard-and-fast proposals for the conference. They intend to allow the participating shipowner nations to frame the details on the conference floor, it was said.

Some Members Are Wary

The sources said the Western powers also consider the users association as a temporary expedient.

Carrier Mills High to Hold Open House Sept. 27

Patrons of the Carrier Mills Community High school are invited to participate in its first annual open house Thursday, Sept. 27, at 7 p. m. Principal Warren G. Jennings announced today.

Plans and details are now being completed to make the affair interesting and educational to the public.

Shortened class periods will be held with regular students and teachers putting on a demonstration of how modern high school classes are conducted. Tours of the building will be conducted by members of the student council and adults will be given their choice of classes they wish to attend.

The patrons of the school will have the opportunity to see the many improvements in the building and in classroom equipment that have been made in the past few years, Mr. Jennings stated.

Introduction of board members, teachers and officers of the student body will be made so that the public may become acquainted with the individuals who are responsible for the operation of the school.

More complete details on the open house will be announced at a later date.

Scott Addresses Saline County Republican Women

Samuel Jack Scott, Republican candidate for Congress from the 25th district, was the principal speaker at a breakfast Friday morning for Saline County Republican women, given at the home of Mrs. Inglis Taylor, county chairwoman.

A large gathering heard Scott blast the legislative record of his opponent, incumbent Kenneth Gray, as he pointed out that none of the bills introduced by Gray in the last session of Congress received any action whatever. Scott then called on his audience to help elect a Republican congressman "to work with the Eisenhower team instead of sitting on the Democratic bench."

He pointed out that his years of service with the FBI and the State Department, both at home and overseas, gave him a knowledge of the workings of our government that would be advantageous to him as a congressman.

Other prominent Republicans present at the meeting included county chairman K. C. Capel, who introduced Circuit Clerk Quentin Bowers and Coroner Elmer Gibbons, both candidates for re-election this fall.

Burns Fatal to Tommy Owens, 11

Boy Poured Gasoline On Rubbish Fire At Home on Sept. 2

Tommy Joe Owens, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Owens of 6 East National, died Saturday at 7:10 p. m. in the Wellborn Baptist hospital in Evansville, Ind.

Death was the result of severe burns suffered Sept. 2 when gasoline, mistaken for kerosene, was poured on a rubbish fire back of his home in Gaskins City.

Tommy was born in Harrisburg Dec. 11, 1944, and would have been in the seventh grade at Junior high school this year.

Funeral services will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at Mt. Calvary General Baptist church in Gaskins City. The Rev. Robert Biggerstaff will officiate and burial will be in the Liberty cemetery.

He is survived by his father, A. E. Owens, his mother, the former Lucinda Wiley, and the following sisters and brothers: Alfred Glendel at home, Mrs. Velma Sittig, Battle Creek, Mich., Mrs. Frances Clecher, Joliet, George Owens, Hammond, Ind., Mrs. Margaret Smith, Harrisburg, Lavera, John Wayne, Wendell Ray, Judith Kay, Shirley Rose, David Roy and Patsy Pauletta, all at home. Also surviving is his grandmother, Mrs. Viola Owens of Harrisburg.

The body was taken from the Gaskins funeral home to the residence to lie in state.

DuQuoin Packing Plant, Union Agree to Terms

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—The Du Quoin Packing Co. and the United Packinghouse Workers have reached agreement on a three-year contract.

The agreement, announced Sunday, calls for pay boosts of up to 47 1/2 cents hourly over the three year period. It would go into effect as soon as ratified by local union membership.

Negotiations on the new contract had been underway for five months.

The agreement provides for the reinstatement of 17 discharged employees and the dismissal of a Circuit Court suit against the company and a federal suit against the union.

Under the agreement, workers would receive a 20-cent hourly increase on an across-the-board basis and some workers would get an additional 3 1/2 cents during the first year.

During the second year, there would be another 10-cent wage increase and a 4-cent fringe benefit hike. A second 10-cent raise would be effective in the third year.

NASSER WARNS WEST — Egypt's president, Gamal Abdel Nasser, addresses a graduation class of Egyptian Air Force cadets at Cairo and tells them that "any country which wages war on Egypt will be waging war on all the Arab countries." Nasser's warning came as the first convoys under Egyptian control began moving through the Suez Canal in wake of a mass resignation of European pilots formerly employed by the old Suez Canal Company. Presidential Commission Advises Revision in Military Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special presidential commission says the administration's military reserve program should be "fundamentally revised" unless lagging enlistments show a sharp spurt by the end of the year.

It said the alternative might be to expose Korean War veterans to further duty in any new national emergency. At the same time, it added, "many" of the increasingly large numbers of youths reaching draft age "may escape service entirely."

The warning was sounded by the National Security Training Commission in its first annual report to Congress. The report was made public Sunday night. The group is charged with policing the program under which youths 17 thru 18 1/2 may volunteer for 6 months active duty followed by 7 1/2 years in the reserves.

The commission said that only about 40,000 youths had volunteered for the program through mid-August despite an "unprecedented" peacetime promotion program, including eight million dollars in free radio and television time.

Contrasting this with the administration's goal of 100,000 volunteers the first year, the commission said "monthly rates must be doubled—perhaps tripled—to meet the requirements of national defense."

If this can not be done by the end of the year, it added, "we should fundamentally revise the program and take steps to provide the necessary manpower."

The group made no specific recommendations.

Great-Grandmother Agrees to Truce After Blockading Highway

BLACKSTONE, Mass. (AP)—A rifle-toting 72-year-old great-grandmother agreed to a one-week truce today after maintaining a three-day blockade of a road across her farm.

Mrs. Kornelia Zariczny, a widow, temporarily ended her rocking chair vigil in the middle of the road on the advice of her attorney.

The attorney, Norman T. Theriault, said the one-woman fight involved a question of Mrs. Zariczny's status as an alien. She is a native of Poland.

Mrs. Zariczny, who had sat with an unloaded rifle across her lap in a chilly drizzle and defied authorities and motorists alike, had said she would not go to court to settle her land dispute.

At one point in her blockade, she built an open fire to keep her warm.

Mrs. Zariczny, who has 13 sons and daughters, 29 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren, began her vigil Saturday after claiming the state took more of her property than it said it would for a new highway.

Reveals Plans After Meeting With President

Conference Held Before Secretary Leaves for Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles announced today that the United States is prepared to finance oil exports from this country to Western Europe in case that transit through the Suez Canal becomes "impractical."

He made the announcement to newsmen at the White House after conferring with President Eisenhower on the Suez crisis.

Dulles conferred with the President a few hours before leaving by plane for a new conference in London on the Suez crisis. Dulles said that in event Egypt blocks the canal, there might have to be increased exports of oil from the United States to Western Europe. He said this government is prepared to finance such exports through the Export-Import Bank.

As for a report that this country is prepared to put up 500 million dollars to finance a detour of the canal around the South African Cape of Good Hope, Dulles said this government has reached no agreement with any other nation.

Precautionary Measure

"All there is in the situation is the normal facility of the Export-Import Bank to finance exports from this country," he said.

"The only thing we're planning for as a contingency is the financing of exports of oil," he added. He expressed hope, however, that "satisfactory operating arrangements" still can be worked out with Egypt.

Dulles spent an hour with the President. Afterwards, he issued a formal statement, including a declaration that:

"We are not trying to organize any boycott of the canal, but we cannot be blind to the fact that conditions might become such that transit through the canal is impractical or greatly diminished. There must always be way to insure the movement of vital supplies, particularly oil, to Western Europe. Accordingly we are carrying out planning as a prudent precaution. But our hope remains that satisfactory operating arrangements can be worked out with Egypt."

Message to Nehru

While Mr. Eisenhower and Dulles were conferring, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty disclosed there has been an exchange of correspondence between the President and Prime Minister Nehru of India. Hagerty said the President's latest communication to Nehru took place late last week.

"It dealt partly with Suez," Hagerty said. The Interior Department, meanwhile, moved ahead with its plan to discuss oil production with representatives of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Louisiana. The meeting was announced Saturday. It will take up the possibility of raising the allowable amount of oil produced in these states, in the event Egypt blocks the Suez Canal.

Private Funeral Tuesday 2 p. m. for David Lee Keith, 3

David Lee Keith, 3, died Saturday at 2:10 p. m. in St. Mary's hospital in East St. Louis. Death was caused by polio, it was announced by A. M. Hetherington, chairman of Saline County Chapter of Infantile Paralysis. The baby was taken to the hospital August 27 where his illness was diagnosed as polio.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Keith of Carrier Mills RFD 2, and was born Dec. 3, 1952.

A private funeral will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at Gibbons chapel. Rev. Walter Holmes will officiate and burial will be in Walnut Grove cemetery.

Besides his parents he leaves the following brothers and sisters: John Edward, William Paul, Carolyn Sue, Shirley Ann, Jeanette Kay, at home.

Control of Congress

Editorial — By BRUCE BROSAT
Obviously in this campaign a good deal is going to be said about why it is wise for a winning president to have a Congress under control of his own party.

The chief argument for it is that it enables a clear line of party responsibility to be established. When both the White House and Congress are in the same political hands, the controlling party cannot easily dodge blame or be deprived of credit for the government's record.

The assumption is, of course, that voters are keenly interested in fixing such responsibility, and that a party division between White House and Congress only confuses them.

The trouble with these contentions, however, is that Congress too often does not behave according to party form.

Right now Adlai Stevenson and other Democrats are busy pointing out that President Eisenhower did not get from the Republican 83rd Congress a lot of the things in his program.

They don't bother to remind the voters that former President Truman had exactly the same problem with the Democratic 81st and 82nd Congresses. Relatively little of his Fair Deal program was ever translated from paper into law.

With a Congress of his own party, he could not in four years redeem his pledge to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor act.

There is usually a simple reason why Congress does not follow a president all the way, even when it is controlled by his party.

Most of the presidents we have been electing tend to be moderate in outlook, reflecting the nation's mood. This does not mean they are liberal, but they are more progressive than many men in Congress.

It happens that, whether Democrats or Republicans are in control in Capitol Hill, the most powerful congressional committee chairmanships normally fall to conservatives who do not see fully eye to eye with the White House occupant.

Add to this the fact that the senators and representatives are subject to tremendous pressures from sources both local and national, and that they are highly jealous of their independence as a branch of government apart from the executive branch.

Together these factors provide the makings of a course of action almost inevitably at odds with that suggested by a president, no matter what his party.

That has been the history of White House-Congress relations in recent times. Consequently it is foolish for either party to pretend that its lawmakers will faithfully push through its own president's program, while the opposition fellows will not.

There isn't any guarantee in either case.

Wisdom In a Tradition

It is well that President Eisenhower is continuing a tradition set by his predecessors, Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, to hand his campaign opponent secret foreign policy data for his guidance.

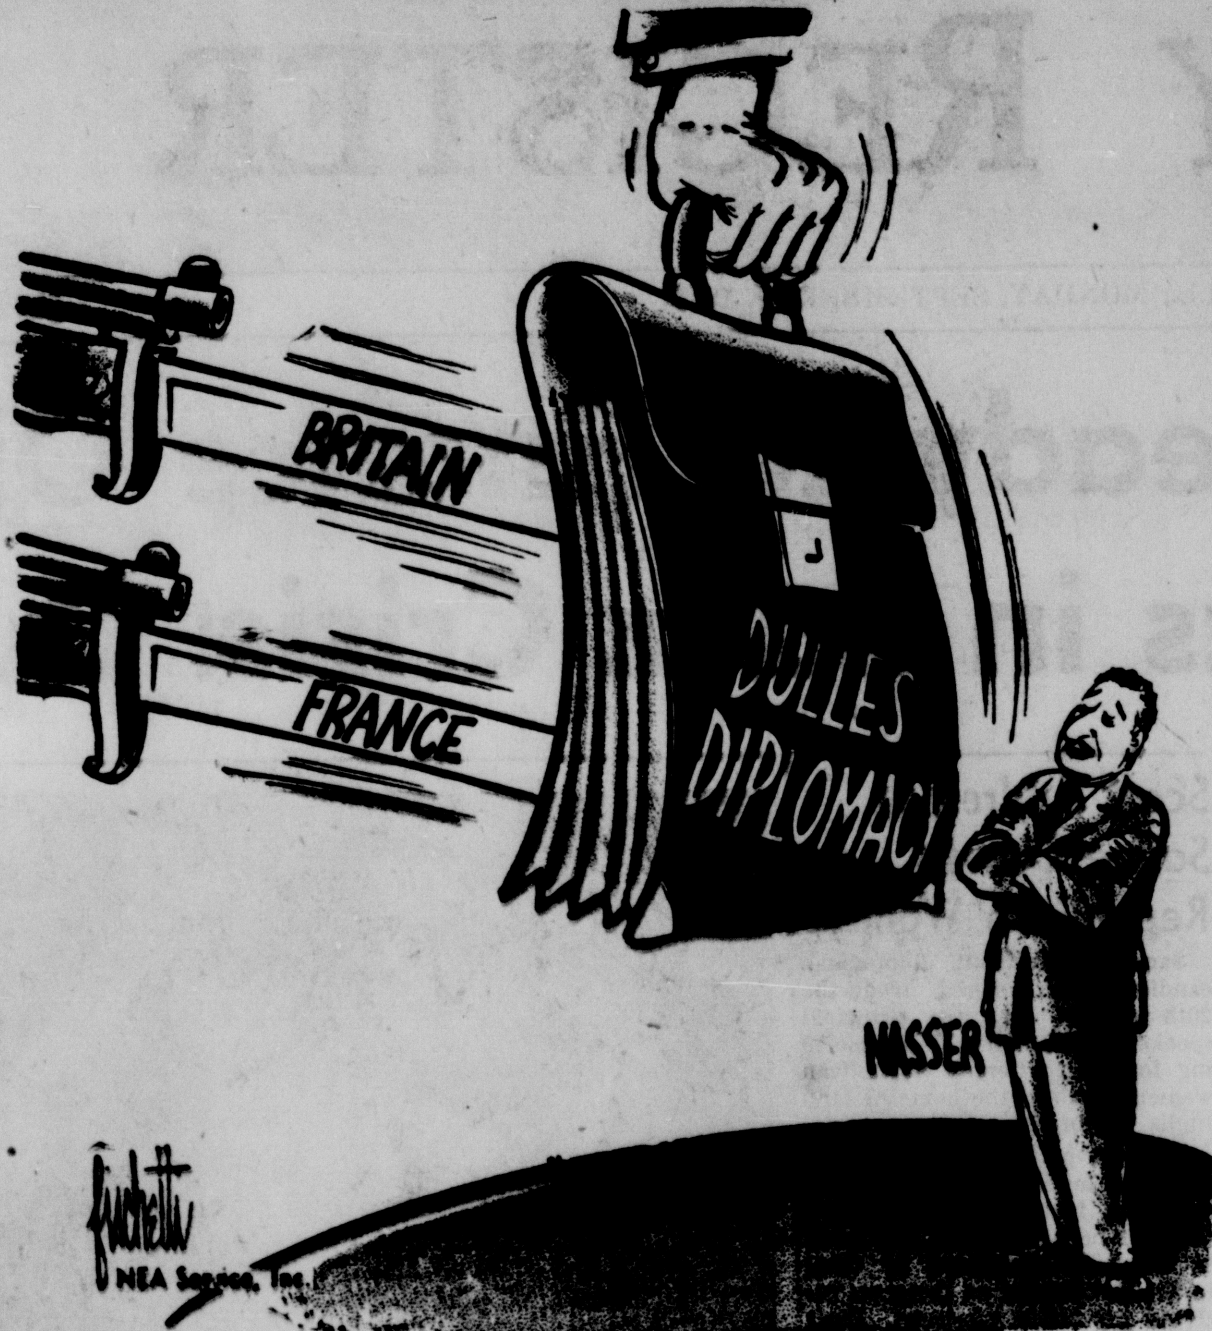

Mr. Roosevelt first resorted to this practice in 1944 when he faced the then Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York during World War II. The hope then was and now is to avoid any damage to this country's position which might stem from misinformation.

The White House has wisely made clear that in supplying this data it seeks in no way to deter Adlai Stevenson from criticizing U. S. foreign policy. Mr. Eisenhower stressed the same point when he accepted Mr. Truman's offer four years ago.

This arrangement is one of the clearest answers anyone could ask for on the question of the basic sense of patriotism which guides both major parties.

The Leather Curtain

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By BREW PEARSON

BREW PEARSON SAYS: "Bad Judgment" involved in Dulles' Career; Firing Of Vincent And Davies, Who "Guess-Ed Wrong" And In Playing Along With Nasser.

NAHARIA, Galilee. — When Gen. George C. Marshall, as U. S. Ambassador to China, recommended that Chiang Kai-Shek bring two Communists into the Nationalist cabinet in order to head off China's swing toward communism, he was later pilloried on the floor of the U. S. Senate by the Senators McCarthy and Jenner as the tool of communism and a traitor to his country.

When John Carter Vincent, U. S. career diplomat and expert on Far Eastern affairs, concurred with General Marshall that it would be wise to form a coalition Nationalist - Communist cabinet, he had to undergo several years of loyalty board investigation after which John Foster Dulles fired him, not for loyalty, but for bad judgment.

John Davies, also a member of General Marshall's staff in China who concurred in this decision, also was fired by John Foster Dulles not for loyalty, but for bad judgment. Davies since has not even been able to collect the money he paid into the State Department toward a future pension.

This is how harsh John Foster Dulles has been toward career diplomats who guessed wrong — even though such non-career Republican diplomats as Patrick J. Hurley, also ambassador to China, concurred with them at the time.

RUSSIA IS STOPPED

When President Truman started the world, and especially the American public, with the Truman doctrine for Greece and Turkey, it had one all-important objective — to block Russian influence from reaching down through the Bosphorus into the Mediterranean.

Truman was advised by Churchill and Dean Acheson that Russia's greatest ambition, both under the czars and under the Kremlin, was to penetrate through the Black Sea, through the Dardanelles, through the Aegean to that ancient highway of European commerce, the Mediterranean. From there communism could fan out toward the restless Arabs of North Africa, the volatile Greeks of the Peloponnese, and spread up the Adriatic to Italy and Yugoslavia.

The Mediterranean, lifeline of the British Empire, Truman was warned, might eventually become a Communist lake, from Gibraltar to the Suez, unless the Kremlin's penetration of Greece and Turkey was stopped.

So a rather unskilled President, at least regarding foreign affairs, took the unprecedented step of extending American influence all the way to the Bosphorus. Some three to four billion dollars of American aid was extended to Greece and Turkey. American military advisers trained their armies. They became allies of the U. S. A. Russia was stopped. The Truman doctrine for that area was successful.

RUSSIA STRIKES SOUTH
When Ferdinand De Lesseps, digger of the Suez Canal, was awarded the Honor of Admission to the French Academy, President Renan said:

"You have set your seal on one of the great battlegrounds of the future."

He referred to the fact that the canal, connecting the world's two most thickly populated continents,

Asia and Europe, was certain to become the world's most coveted waterway if an enemy of England or the United States should control it, raw materials of the Orient, the lifeline of England with Australia, New Zealand, India, would be cut off and seriously hampered. Renan's prophecy was more accurate than he realized.

Knowing its accuracy Soviet Russia began even before the war's end to try infiltration of the Arabs of North Africa. In the summer of 1943, Moscow officially asked Washington for the right to send a Russian emissary to North Africa, ostensibly to be represented in the Allied occupation of Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia. President Roosevelt said no.

After the war, Russian agents fanned out all through North Africa, Syria, Egypt. Blocked at the Bosphorus by the Truman doctrine, the Kremlin shifted its attack a few hundred miles south to the most important waterway in the world.

DULLES IS WOODED AND WON

In 1953, during the first year he became Eisenhower's secretary of state, John Foster Dulles journeyed to Cairo. There he sat with Egypt's persuasive, charming, Gamal Abdel Nasser, heard him talk of Egypt's down-trodden masses, about his ideas for ending starvation, revitalizing his nation. It was a moving appeal.

Dulles has made both fortune and reputation as a shrewd Wall Street lawyer. But he has made disastrous mistakes. One was when he urged American investors to buy German bonds in the pre-Hitler era; another when he told American audiences in 1938 that the dictators of Germany, Italy and Japan needed more room for their restless peoples.

This was after one such dictator had already seized Austria, the Ruhr, the Rhineland and the Sudetenland; and a few months before his attack on Poland was to plunge the world into war.

Dulles, listening to Nasser, made another disastrous decision. He decided to bet American policy in the Near East on backing Nasser and rebuilding Egypt.

To this end, he pulled wires with the British, all but demanded that they get out of Suez. He appointed Henry Byroade, a West Point colonel, who spoke the same language as Colonel Nasser, as U. S. ambassador to Cairo. And he immediately poured $30,000,000 of U. S. economic aid into Egypt — aid which Nasser only one year later was berating to the Egyptian people as the importation of diseased American chickens.

"Egypt today stands in every respect with the West," Colonel Nasser told Byroade shortly after word that the U. S. was bringing dollars to his defense.

Simultaneously the same Nasser was telling Arab leaders: "We are in a position to ruin the West if we act to work."

That was the disastrous error made by the secretary of state who fired two career diplomats for their errors of judgment in regard to China.

More regarding this error, why it was made and its consequences in an early column.

Brodie Boy, Survivor Of Historic Operation, Celebrates 5th Birthday

CHICAGO—A 5-year-old boy, who survived a historic operation, was to observe his fifth birthday today with a party at the Illinois Research and Education Hospital.

Rodney Dee Brodie, who has spent much of his life in the hospital, was 5 Sunday. But he eagerly awaited today's party at which his companions in the children's ward were to honor him.

Rodney Dee and his brother, Roger Lee, were joined at the top of their heads at birth. They were separated four years ago in a now famous operation, but Roger Lee died 34 days after the separation.

Rodney Dee returned to the hospital July 19 after a brief stay with his parents on their farm home near Ferris, Ill. He has been treated for accumulation of fluid in his head which had begun to affect his sense of balance.

Miss Phyllis Robson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robson, formerly of Harrisburg, has recently undergone orthopedic surgery in the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago of which Miss Robson is a recent graduate. Her condition and progress are satisfactory and she should be walking again in about two weeks.

34 Lost When Ship Sinks Off Norway Coast

HARSTAD, Norway—Five survivors of the American liberty ship Pelagia who landed in this tiny Norwegian fishing village said today there was no hope for 33 other men aboard the sunken ship.

The search went on, but the survivors said theirs was the only lifeboat to be put down when the 7,238-ton Pelagia, laden with 10,000 tons of iron ore, broke in two in a gale and sank off Norway's rocky coast.

The five men were identified as Lawrence Reddick of Central City, Colo.; James Arnold of Baltimore; Demetrios Hadjicostas, a Greek-born American citizen of New York; Andreas Orphanos of New York; and Pedro Rodriguez of Baltimore.

With them was the body of Jean Lopez of Santiago, Puerto Rico. He had died of exposure in the icy waters above the Arctic Circle before the British trawler Northern Duke could reach their leaking lifeboat, guided by a U. S. Air Force search plane.

Hadjicostas told United Press theirs was the only lifeboat to make it to safety. Three others were splintered when part of the superstructure gave away and crashed to the deck under the pounding of mountainous waves.

Even the lifeboat developed a leak under the pounding of the seas, but they kept it afloat until a U. S. Air Force rescue plane spotted them and the British trawler plucked them from the sea. Lopez had succumbed in the icy water by then.

One of these eight will go to the hospital
this year

It is true that, on the average, one out of every eight Americans will go to the hospital this year. It may be because of accident, sudden illness or need for surgery, or it might be a happy occasion like the birth of a baby. In any event the chances are that you or members of your family will need hospitalization several times in the course of your family life.

The cost of illness or injury can be a sudden and staggering blow to the family budget. Not only may there be medical and hospital expenses, but also loss of income. This is why it is well to be prepared for such an emergency... to have one of Metropolitan's new Accident and Sickness Policies to help pay for your loss of time from work... and, of course, Hospital and Surgical Expense Insurance to help cover the cost of hospital confinement or surgery.

How do you select such insurance policies? No advertising message could give you a complete answer to this question. Two of the more important considerations, however, in selecting sickness insurance are:

U. S., Britain to Seek Suez Test Trip

Experts estimated the association could be ready to challenge Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser with a test ship or convoy within a week after the conference here finishes work.

Of the 18 nations invited, 14 have accepted or indicated probable acceptance, although a number are reported wary of the Western plan. The latest "yes" came from Spain, which has been moving cautiously to avoid endangering its Arab interests.

The foreign ministers of Denmark, Sweden and Norway agreed reluctantly to attend but said the issue is so grave it must be taken to the United Nations.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said Pakistan and Iran acceptances included reservations against any prior commitments.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was leaving Washington by plane this afternoon for London to seek the widest possible support for the proposed plan. He was backed by American oil interests and indications the United States would underwrite the plan up to $500 million a year.

India's roving ambassador, V. K. Krishna Menon, landed in Cairo this morning on an emergency mission to consult President Gamal Abdel Nasser on the steadily worsening crisis. New U. S. Ambassador Raymond A. Hare flew to Cairo shortly after midnight.

West Rejects Invitation

Nasser, backed by the Arab nations, the Communist world and some Far Eastern neutrals, was proceeding with plans for a rival conference to study the Suez crisis. The West already has rejected Nasser's invitation, but some 21 other nations planned to go to Cairo.

Dispatches from Port Said reported the first signs of a slowdown of Suez Canal traffic became apparent this morning when the northbound convoy arrived late and only five ships assembled for today's south-bound run.

Stratton Leads GOP Caravan Into Second Week of Drive for Re-Election

By United Press

Gov. William G. Stratton led a Republican caravan into normally Democratic St. Clair and Madison counties today to start the second week of his campaign for re-election.

With Stratton were Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, Atty. Gen. Latham Castle and State Sen. Elbert S. Smith, candidate for state auditor.

U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, with Lt. Gov. John W. Chapman and Elmer J. Hoffman, candidate for state treasurer, took another caravan into Lake County.

The Republican state candidates spent a comparatively quiet weekend. Stratton, at Springfield, said he was "pleased" with the turnout which met his caravan in the first week of the campaign and that the GOP had "tangible progress" to show the voters.

Cities Wiley Renomination

Richard Stengel, Democratic candidate for U. S. senator, said

at Ladd Sunday, the renomination of Wisconsin Sen. Alexander Wiley demonstrated that "people all over the country are really aroused" and "are determined to reject this drive of the worst elements of the Republican Party to take over control of the country."

Stengel moved into Camp Point today and said Illinois farm homes "would still be without light and power if the politics" of Dirksen "had prevailed." He said Dirksen has "never voted for REA" and the GOP national administration has "sought to stunt REA growth." Stengel said more than 160,000 Illinois farms have been electrified through REA cooperatives.

Cook County Republicans, meanwhile, prepared to open a "school" Wednesday to instruct volunteer workers in doorbell ringing and the "personal touch" techniques of winning votes.

Parents Embrace Two Sons Who Were Held Nine Years Behind Iron Curtain

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A Hungarian-American mother and father cried and smiled today when they embraced their two oldest sons separated from them by the Iron Curtain for nine years.

The parents, Bela and Eva Banathy, broke into a run in a corridor at San Francisco International Airport when they caught sight of their boys, Bela Jr., 13, and Laszlo, 12, who arrived on a flight from Budapest.

Killer Awaiting Electric Chair is Confirmed in Cell

CHICAGO (UPI)—An Episcopal bishop confirmed Charles Townsend in his faith Sunday in the Cook County jail as tuberculosis raced the electric chair to claim his life.

It was Townsend's 22nd birthday and the Rt. Rev. Gerald Francis Burrill, spiritual leader of Chicago Episcopalians, knelt with the young killer in his cell to confirm him in the faith he learned while awaiting execution.

Prison doctors said Townsend may not live to carry out the death sentence imposed on him for the bludgeoning slaying of four men.

He was suffering from tuberculosis that apparently developed during his addiction to drugs. He said it was his drug habit—started at the age of 13—which drove him to the killings after narcotics began costing him up to $30 a day.

The last time they saw the children was on Oct. 4, 1947, in an Austrian refugee camp. On that day, they gave the boys to their aunt to take care of. They could no longer bear to see the boys suffer from undernourishment.

Banathy had misgivings about the wisdom of their act. He vowed to stop smoking "until I would see my boys again."

Banathy, now 36, and his wife, 34, and two other sons born in the refugee camp, came to the United States in 1951 under the sponsorship of a church group.

Since then every thought in their minds was to get the boys back. "Oh, Cocci," wept Mrs. Banathy as she embraced her oldest boy, Bela, calling him by his infant nickname.

"I am glad that it is over — the waiting," the elder Bela said.

The two younger boys, Tibor, 11, and Robert, 8, joined arm-in-arm with Bela and Laszlo as they walked from the air terminal to their car for the drive to Monterey, Calif., where Banathy is an instructor in the Army language school.

Grover Ledbetter, 69, Of Karbers Ridge Dies

Grover Ledbetter, 69, died at 1 a. m. today. He was a resident of the Karbers Ridge community.

The body lies in state at the Hosick funeral home in Rosiclare and will be returned to the family residence at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Eight Killed in Head-on Collision

LAKE WALES, Fla. (UPI)—A head-on collision Sunday night killed eight persons, including two young white men and six Negroes.

The only survivor of the crash, an unidentified Negro boy, was in very critical condition today and not expected to live.

Lt. R. C. Webb, Lakeland, in charge of State Highway Patrol troopers investigating the crash, said the accident occurred three miles west of here.

A witness in another car reported that the automobile with the two white men swerved out of control after rounding a curve at very high speed and skidded sideways into the wrong lane. The car containing seven Negroes, including three small children, struck the other vehicle broadside. The Negroes were apparently all members of the same family.

Evangelist 'Lucky Leroy' Ends Successful Revival at Shawneetown

The revival at the First Baptist church of New Shawneetown ended Sunday with 30 conversions and nine rededications during the two weeks it was in progress. Ray "Lucky Leroy" Marvel of Harrisburg was the evangelist.

About 1,000 persons gathered on the Ohio river bank Sunday afternoon to see the baptism of 14 into the Baptist church. Evangelist Marvel stated today. He said that of the remaining decisions, some went into the Methodist church and some into the Presbyterian church at Shawneetown.

Comedian in Serious Condition

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Oliver Hardy, hefty half of the famed Laurel and Hardy comedy team, was in serious condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital. He suffered a stroke.

The 64-year old slapstick comic responded slightly to treatment Sunday but his condition has not changed. Hardy suffered the stroke in his San Fernando Valley home and was rushed to the hospital Friday.

Railroad Conductor Dragged to Death

CHICAGO (UPI)—A 29-year-old railroad conductor was dragged to his death by a locomotive in suburban Bellwood Sunday.

The victim was Michael E. Finn, who was struck by an engine of the Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad. Finn, a conductor for the Chicago and Great Western Railway, apparently stepped into the path of the locomotive, police said, after throwing a switch for his own train.

Turns Off Lights

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Empire State Building turned off its big light Sunday night on account of the birds. The world's tallest office building had to extinguish the stationary beacon light for the remainder of the bird-migrating season. The light attracts migrating birds that dash themselves to death against its sides at night.

Michigan ranks fifth among states of the Union as an industrial state although it is only seventh in population.

Mrs. Horace McCughan Of Rosiclare Dies

Mrs. Lula L. McCughan, 67, wife of Horace McCughan of Rosiclare, died Sunday at 10:15 a. m. in a Rosiclare hospital.

She leaves her husband; one son, Glenn of Elizabethtown, and one daughter, Dorothy Bell of Hammond, Ind.; also three sisters. Mrs. Mae Liard, Metropolis, Mrs. Pearl Clarida, California, and Mrs. Hattie Hayton, Springfield, Mo.; and one brother, Luna Linson, Metropolis.

The body will be taken from the Rottmann funeral home to the residence in Rosiclare. Funeral services will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Methodist church in Rosiclare. The pastor, Rev. Farmer, will officiate and burial will be in the Fluorine cemetery.

Benton Boy, 11, Is Killed by Automobile

By United Press

At least 11 persons died in traffic accidents during the week end in Illinois.

There were no multiple death accidents reported. Traffic victim in southern Illinois was Danny Mick, 11, Benton, who was struck by another car as he stepped from his parents' auto at Benton.

Prowler Killed At Mt. Vernon by State Policeman

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP) — Miles Porter, 34, was shot and killed by a state policeman Saturday when he refused to get in the patrolman's car and started running.

State Policeman L. R. Lyons said he was in the Mount Vernon city police station when a woman called and said a prowler was near her home outside the city limits.

On his way to answer the call, Lyons spotted Porter walking toward a truck parked in a ditch near a junkyard where there had been several thefts recently.

Lyons stopped the man and asked him for his identification. Porter said he did not have it with him, and Lyons told him to get in the police car so they could go to Porter's home for the identification.

Legion Splits Week End Tilts

Locals Lose to
Carterville, 5-3;
Win at Evansville

The Harrisburg Legion baseball club split a pair of games over the week end, losing Saturday night to Carterville, 5-3, and winning, 5-0, Sunday afternoon on Don Wallace's three-hitter over Evansville's CIO-IEU club. Both games were played on the VFW Memorial field here.

Saturday's game was close to the end as Carterville scored three runs in the fifth, but the locals came back with the same number in the sixth to tie the score. There were no more tallies until the first of the ninth when Carterville pushed across two runs on two hits and an error to win.

Lefty Seats was on the hill for Carterville, giving up three runs on eight hits and five walks while striking out six. Don Stout pitched 11 hit ball for the Legion, walking seven while he struck out 11. Farley was the hitting star for Carterville, driving in three of the five runs.

Don Wallace hurled a three-hitter Sunday to give the locals a 5-0 shutout over Evansville. The Legion wrapped up the game in the second on a single, an infield out, and another single. The locals scored once again in the fourth and three times in the sixth. Wallace, who struck out five, walked only one. J. Nichols and Phillips combined on the hill for Evansville, giving up eight hits and three walks while striking out 10.

The total for the Legion hits of the weekend: Dallas 5, Logsdon 3, Odle 2, Gully 2, Griffiths 2, McNew 1, and Stout 1.

The next home game for the Legion will be next Sunday at 1 p. m. when it plays the Paducah, Ky., colored team in the second game of the Harrisburg Invitational baseball tournament. Murphysboro will play McLeansboro Saturday night at 7:45 in the opening game of the tournament. Norris City will play Albion in a Sunday game, following the Legion-Paducah game.

Five Top Teams In Football Action This Week

By United Press

Now that some "lesser light" teams have given the 1956 college football season a formidable sendoff, eager gridiron fans can look forward today to the first big weekend of the campaign with five of last year's top 10 teams in action.

UCLA, the 1955 Pacific Coast Conference champion, kicks off the weekend with a big Friday night game against Utah, and then high-ranked Maryland, Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, and Mississippi will take the field in features Saturday.

Last Saturday night's skimpy opening program stuck mighty close to the form sheet with Wichita, Tulsa, Wyoming, and Iowa State scoring some of the more important victories.

Wichita, co-champion of the Missouri Valley Conference, was jittery on offense and lost the ball seven times on fumbles, but its rock-ribbed defense that yielded only a "minus five yards" rushing, paved the way to a 13-0 victory over Brigham Young. Tulsa rallied from a 6-0 halftime deficit to whip New Mexico A&M, 27-6. Wyoming showed its depth in a 40-13 rout of Colorado Western; and Iowa State defeated Denver, 13-0.

In other top games, Utah State outscored Drake, 39-33; South Carolina gave new Coach Warren Giese, a 28-13 victory over Wof-

Yankees Need One Win to Nail Down Pennant; Dodgers Hold Half-Game Lead in NL

By United Press

It's all over but the shouting in the American league but there's just one more crisis today for the National league's weary contenders.

The New York Yankees need only the formality of one victory in their last 10 games to nail down a record-equalling seventh flag in eight years under Casey Stengel after splitting Sunday's doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians. And they'll go for the "kill" Tuesday night against the Chicago White Sox—the only team that still has a mathematical chance.

But over in the feverish NL, the Brooklyn Dodgers, Milwaukee Braves and Cincinnati Redlegs go right back "into the pit" tonight.

The Dodgers opened up a half-game lead with Sal Maglie's spine-tingling, 3-2 win over Cincinnati Sunday but face the hard-hitting Redlegs again tonight while the Braves tangle with the New York Giants in a two-night doubleheader, created by Sunday's rainout.

Braves Must Win

The Dodgers are in a position where a victory would assure their holding first place for another 24 hours and would just about end the Redlegs' faint hopes. The Braves, of course, must win their doubleheader or suffer another blow in the vital "lost column."

The Yankees routed 19-game winner Bob Lemon with a 13-single attack to win their opener, 10-3, but Early Wynn scattered nine hits to win the nightcap for the Indians, 4-3, despite Mickey Mantle's 49th homer.

Maglie shut out the Redlegs for 8 2-3 innings but gave way to Don Bessent when Smokey Burgess cut the Dodgers' margin to one run with a two-run homer and Ray Jablonski followed with a single.

The Dodgers scored two runs off Joe Nuxhall in the second inning and added their third run in the fifth.

Get 15 Hits

Murry Dickson pitched a six-hitter to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-2 victory but the Pittsburgh Pirates walloped 15 hits for a 9-3 win and the Philadelphia ford; VMI crushed Stetson, 47-6; and Virginia Tech drubbed East Carolina, 37-2.

Phillies scored a 4-1 triumph after the Chicago Cubs won their opener, 7-4, in the other National league games.

The White Sox escaped mathematical elimination in the AL when they beat the Washington Senators, 7-5 and 7-2.

The Detroit Tigers made it 13 wins in 17 games when they beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-4 and 8-4.

Art Ditmar turned in a four-hitter as the Kansas City Athletics scored a 10-1 triumph after Dick Williams' ninth-inning triple enabled the Baltimore Orioles to win their opener, 3-2.

SAVER—The New York Yankees needed relief pitching, so 31-year-old Sonny Dixon got a big break. The right-hander was sold to the American League champions by Richmond of the International League. He had a 7 and 5 record, but was credited with saving 24 other games.

Bears Unbeaten In Exhibitions; Browns Lose 5

By United Press

The Chicago Bears took a perfect record into the final week of the National Football League exhibition season today and the champion Cleveland Browns, usually several wave-lengths ahead of their rivals, reported they've wired for sound.

The Bears swept their fifth exhibition game by defeating the New York Giants Saturday night at Dallas, Tex., 21-16.

Cleveland, which hasn't had a good exhibition record since 1953, took a 31-14 Saturday night whipping from the Detroit Lions at Akron, Ohio. But Coach Paul Brown, who usually calls Cleveland's plays by alternating "messenger boy" guards, employed a radio installed in quarterback George Ratterman's helmet to run his offense against Detroit in rain and mud.

It was Cleveland's fifth straight exhibition loss.

George Blanda threw scoring passes to ends Bill McColl and Gene Schroeder and set up Rick Casares' one-yard scoring plunge with another heave while pacing the Bears to victory over the Giants.

In other Saturday night exhibitions, Lowell Perry's 97-yard scoring dash with a kickoff enabled the Pittsburgh Steelers to edge the Philadelphia Eagles, 14-12 at Minneapolis, and Fred Cone kicked three field goals to lead the Green Bay Packers to a 29-21 triumph over the Chicago Cardinals at St. Louis.

In Sunday's only game, rookie halfback Lenny Moore's two-touchdowns helped the Baltimore Colts thrill 28,471 home fans with a 21-13 victory over the Washington Redskins.

Double Haul

WATERTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—James Eassa went fishing in nearby Chaumont Bay and came back not only with a 12-inch bass but $20 worth of extra fishing gear. As Eassa was reeling in his own line, he saw another piece of line attached to the hook. He hauled in a fully equipped pole-reel, hook, line and sinker—and at the end of the line, the fish.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

THE LONG NIGHT

THE STORY: An atom bomb has been dropped on Harrington. Henry Thompson, an executive of the Civil Defense group, is worrying about his family. His wife has been killed but he does not know it. John, his oldest son, was at a bowling alley prior to the attack.

Three minutes the noise rose and fell. Finally the electric current to the siren was cut and the sound fell to a lowing bass as the machine ground to a halt.

Everyone was on his feet. There was a babble of voices as the bowlers and onlookers alike clustered about the bar. "Hey, Chris!" someone queried, "what gives?"

"Hey, wait a minute! Thompson's old man, he's some sort of wheel in this civil defense . . . c'mon, Johnny, what gives?"

John shrugged his shoulders. "I don't know," he answered. "The old man is always running around with his tin hat and his armband. Don't ask me. I don't know any more about it than you do."

"But your pop, he would know if there was a air-raid test, no?" "Sure," John answered, "he always gets the word on these. Once he pulled a surprise test, but the mayor blew his top about getting pulled out of the bathtub, so they knocked those off. Sure, he'd know He's part of the top staff."

Konstanty placed a restraining hand on his shoulder. "Just a minute, Johnny. You, too," he said, gesturing to Thompson's friends. "the alleys will still be here in a few minutes for you to bowl. First, I want to get something straight." He tapped his fingers on the bar. "Good. Now, if your old man, he always knows when a test comes on, and this time he don't say nothing to you, then I think something, maybe she's funny. So, tell me, where is your pop tonight?"

"Why, he's at the movies," John replied.

"You know," Chris said, "I'm thinking that maybe this is not a test. Maybe it's the real thing, after all. I don't like it. Johnny says his father, he don't know nothing about a test. Not only that, but goes to the movies. Is this true, Johnny?"

"Yeah, I suppose it is." "Then more and more I don't like it. More and more I'm thinking that maybe this time they ain't fooling."

Konstanty's reflections met loud laughter. Harry Green, one of Thompson's schoolmates, called to Konstanty. "I think maybe you been reading too many of them comic books."

His guffaws were continued by the group. "Y'know, Chris, what you say makes me think," Charley Bowers cried. "I think I better look."

Mock terror distorted his face. The crowd laughed loudly as he dashed to the window to peer out.

"See, Chris?" Bowers called again, "not a thing outside. Just nothing."

He turned again to the window and stared out.

He was struck blind.

Two and a half miles away the star leaped into existence. The insane brilliance flashed, instantaneously the light enveloped the city, burned out Charley Bowers' eyes, seared his sight into unbearable white-hot pain, thrust him into the kaleidoscopic horror of new-blindness.

Bowers screamed. The tortured shriek burst from his throat even as the light and the fierce heat embraced him. For timeless seconds he stood nakedly exposed through the window as the star mushroomed into a richer fireball, his scream of pain and terror one long drawnout tormented cry. Every man in the bowling alley was struck dumb where he stood. The light lessened. Pale shadows returned, then stark white and black as the brilliance subsided so that the optic nerves could function.

Konstanty stood transfixed behind the bar. Someone shouted

"DOWN!"

There was no need for the shout. Those able to move already were diving instinctively behind benches, behind pillars, or simply dropping prone to the floor.

The shock wave and the blast arrived. The steel fist pounced savagely on the small recreation hall. Charley Bowers, still transfixed, blind, before the window, received full force the impact of the shattering glass. The glass erupted toward Charley Bowers with bullet-like speed. There was not even sufficient time for the blood to begin to flow before his body was lacerated into pulpy slivers. The shock killed him almost instantly.

The invisible fist of the blast wave squeezed, contracted, peeled the roof off the building, blew the walls in, at once killed half the men. The rows of whisky bottles behind Chris Konstanty were flung

Indiana Opens Toll Highway

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (U-P)—A horn-bonking motorcade preceded the opening today of the 280-million dollar Indiana toll road, last link in a Chicago to New York turnpike system. Indiana Gov. George N. Craig dedicated the Hoosier stretch of the highway after a fast ride in the motorcade from the Ohio state line to South Bend.

Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche was a guest at the dedication ceremony.

All vehicles were allowed toll-free passage on the road today over the completed section east of Gary, Ind. Regular toll rates ranging up to $1.95 for the state-long journey go into effect Tuesday.

About 16 miles of the road between Gary and the Illinois state line have not been completed yet but officials expressed hope that the small section would be open by Nov. 16.

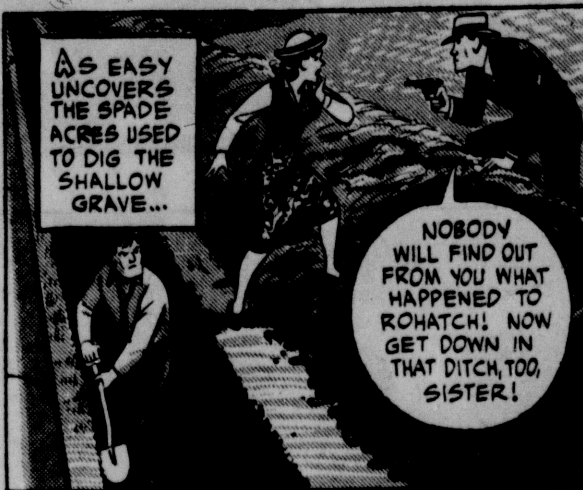

The road enables motorists to travel from Chicago to New York without seeing a stoplight, and to cut an estimated nine hours from the trip.

Tolls for the 830-mile journey over the Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Delaware River turnpikes would amount to $10.20.

The Crop Reporting Board has released figures which show that average output for each laying hen in 1955 was 192 eggs, compared with 188 in 1954.
